the station.

The last group was still passing slowly across the lawn, admiring the view across the Hudson, when the stentorian voice of william D. Reynolds, president of the City Bank Club, was heard giving the first call for the track meet. The contestants had already gathered in track suits and spiked those, and they made themselves heard too.

Stocks and Bonds! Market and Rate! National! National! 8-8-8.

Urged on by fair rooters on the camp chairs and by the partisan cries of their departments, the athletes did phenomenal work, but no world's records were broken.

The ladies' driving race was the feature of the day. Six teams were entered. The future financiers trotted to the post, their lady drivers handling the ribbons with remarkable grace. The pistol cracked and they were off. Neck and neck they sped the first fifteen yards. At twenty yards W. McKeever, Miss Roth driving, pulled out of the ruck. At forty yards the field closed in and he put on a samific burst of speed. But the strain was too great. The harness parted and the fair driver was spilled on the green, while the fiery steed shot under the wire unguided.

Seconds later Miss Roth piloted her stout teed F. Lang to victory.

The running high jump brought out keen actional spirit when George O. Kittle and L. Eaker showed they were in a class of themselves. The cries of the corresponence desk party hit the welkin with a Get up steam, Kittle," only to be answered by the cherus of the check department, a little more yeast, Baker!" POUR DAY DEADLOCK BROKEN.

RALEIGE, N. C., June 27.-Congress William W. Kitchin was nominated for Governor to-night by the Democratic State convention on the sixty-first ballot after a four day deadlock. There had been three candidates—Kitchin, Locke Craig of Bun-combe county and Ashley Horne of John-

From Friday morning until to-night there had been but one four hour recess taken, that being from 6.30 to 10:30 this morning. The convention was kept going by working "shifts" in the delegations of each county, while the Congressional vicepresidents relieved the permanent chairman as often as necessary.

When the convention resumed work at 11 o'clock this morning a number of delegates had left. The departing delegates did not affect the voting, for all the counties except fourteen of the ninety-eight have sent instructed delegates, apportioned ac-cording to the strength each candidate received at the county primaries.

It was about 1 o'clock when the first break came, and the following figures were read out: Horne 178, Craig 292, Kitchin 388. Everybody in the hall sat bolt upright and the Horne delegates made a demonstration. for Craig had fallen below the 300 mark for the first time and nearly all the votes he lost had gone to swell Horne's vote. Four hours later, after many more fruitless balots, the sixteenth ballot was announced and the hopes of the Horne crowd were again dashed, for his vote had fallen to 138, sight less than he started with on Wednesday Craig's vote had increased again to within a lozen of his original vote and Kitchin was wanting only one vote to reach the 400 mark, 29 being necessary for a nomination.

With the next ballot the end came and most of the delegates fled before a resoluion was adopted adjourning until Monday. There is no doubt of the renomination of nearly all the present State officers. Resolutions instructing for Bryan will be

PRIZE FIGHT STOPPED. Featherweights Were Fighting to Help

Murderer's Defence. Capt. McNally with twenty reserve and a dozen detectives late last night raided a finish prizefight at 122 Worth street between Eddie Kane and Frankie Madden for the benefit of Louis Poggi, known as Louis the Lump, who is in the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, awaiting trial for murdering two men at Coney Island a month ago.

About two hundred men were in the rooms of the Æolian Club on the ground floor when the police broke in, and the wildest excitement followed. There was a grand rush for the doors and the windows, and not a few heads were tapped with night sticks in the hands of the coppers. Most of the spectators escaped, however, and with the comparatively small force Capt. McNally had he succeeded in getting and with the comparatively small force Capt. McNally had he succeeded in getting only seventy-five prisoners, including the three principals, Madden and Kane and the referee, James Dugan.

Kane and Madden are featherweights and are well known in pugdom. Both are friends of Louis the Lump. To insure a good attendance the fighters agreed to battle to a finish, and 200 sports from the East Side and Brooklyn put up $2 apiece to see the mill. The proceeds were to be used to procure a lawyer for Poggi.

Capt. McNally got wind of the scrap yesterday afternoon and just when the featherweights advanced at the sound of the gong the captain, with two patrol wagonloads of cops, drove up. Madden and Kane were mixing it up in lively fashion in the first round when the police forced their way in and announced that the mill was pulled. Then ensued a wild scramble to escape and the cops found they had more than they could do. They couldn't possibly stem the tide of men and youths and most of them made a getaway.

The seventy-five prisoners were locked up in the Elizabeth street station. The police confiscated several kegs of beer,

The boys said they were Arthur Baldusky of 416 New Jersey avenue, Brooklyn, and Daniel C. Neff of Denver, both about 16 years old. In the night court Baldusky said that he had long been wanting to go to Kansas to see his father, and yesterday afternoon he chanced to run across Neff in Madison Square Park. Neff said he had come here from Denver a week ago to get work and hadn't succeeded, so he guessed he would go back home on the Twentieth Century Limited. He told Baldusky the trip wasn't so bad if a fellow would just keep awake and not fall off the rods under the cars.

The boys went up to the railroad yards, found out where the cars were that were to go on the Limited and were making themselves comfortable before the train pulled out when one of them stuck his foot out from under the car and they were discovered. The June Bug has already exceeded this distance in one continuous flight and the association is very confident that its new machine will win the trophy. The cup committee is expected next week, when an official trial will be made.

Starving Woman Found in the Street. A feeble woman was found surrounded by a crowd of children in the doorway of a tenement near Bleecker and Houston streets yesterday afternoon by Policeman Hughes of the Mercer street station. She told him that she was 75 years old and had no home. Dr. Walsh from St. Vincent's Hospital said that she was suffering from starvation and she was taken to the hospital. She revived later in the day and said that she was Mrs. Mary Burns.

THREE MEN SLASHED AS HE RAN THROUGH THE TENDERLOIN.

Fire Chief Devanney Grabbed Mim and Was Rolled to the Gutter-Trouble Started When Some One Tried to Stop a Fight That the Negro Was In.

In a desperate effort to get away from crowd of white men who were pursuing him an unidentified negro ran four blocks through the upper Tenderloin last night slashing right and left with a knife and outting three men severely. It was the most exciting event of the kind that Broadway has witnessed for a long time. The trouble started when Frank Kelly of 243 West Forty-fourth street attempted to stop a fight between the negro and another man at Fiftieth street and Broadway. The negro turned on Kelly and plunged a knife into his left arm near the shoulder. The crowd that had been watching the fight at once started for the negro. He ran through Fiftieth street toward Eighth avenue, making a path for himself by slashing with his knife. At Eighth avenue the fugitive turned south.

As he dashed past the quarters of Fire Truck 4 on the corner of Forty-eighth street Batallion Chief Devanney grabbed him. The two rolled to the gutter together, Devanney clinging to the negro's knife hand. The negro broke away and though he had not been able to stab Devanney he gave him a vicious kick in the stomach that doubled him up. Thomas A. Dermody, driver of Truck 4, rushed to the Tusning west on Forty-seventh street the negro darted into the tenement at 265. Two detectives from the uptown detective bureau who had joined in the pursuit rushed upstairs after him. As they did so a voice from the top floor said: "Come up here. Jim. and we'll take care of you."

Then the lights went out. The detectives grouped their way on up the stairs and made a search of the entire tenement, but the fugitive had disappeared. Probably he went over the roofs while the detectives were stumbling around in the dark. On suspicion of aiding the escaping negro Elford Benson and James A. Robinson, both black, were arrested. They were found on the top floor, whence had come the voice.

When the police counted up the injured after the chase they found that in addition to Kelly and Dermody John J. Loughlin of 707 Ninth avenue had been stabbed. He was cut in the left breast, the right shoulder, the back and on the left hand. All three injured men were taken to Roosevelt Hospital. Their injuries though painful were said not to be dangerous.

Later Detectives Lowenthal and Bruckman went through neighboring tenements. They spotted the fugitive in a house at 262 West Forty-seventh street. He proved to be John Green, a butler, 27 years old. He lived in the house at 265, into which he had run for refuge.

His change of clothing had been brought to him, the police found out, by Isabelle Irving, 28 years old, who lives at No. 265. The police arrested her, charging her with helping a fugitive to escape. They were unable to find out, however, who turned the gas out when Green ran up the stairs.

Green was taken to Police Headquarters. There he said he had been hurt by his long jump. Dr. Dorsey of St. Vincent's Hospital made a superficial examination of the man and said that he could find no greater injury than a broken wrist and a contusion of the left foot. ENGINE FALLS INTO THE RIVER. Man Who Was on the Coweatcher Killed in Derailment on the Central.

YONKERS. June 27 .- The locomotive of a construction train on the New York Central Railroad at Greystone, this city, plunged into the Hudson River early this evening, killing Nicholas Griziani, one of the train crew. The Engineer, William Donahue of 344 East 142d street, and the fireman, Stephen Hyelison of 207 East 158th street, saved their lives by jumping.

Examination of the track at the point where the accident occurred showed that a rail was broken. What this break was due to hasn't been determined. due to hasn't been determined.

Griziani was sitting on the pilot of the locomotive when he heard warning cries from several of the construction gang who were standing on an embankment a short distance away. He tried to jump, but was caught as the engine lurched forward and was killed almost instantly, his body being horribly mangled.

NEW STATEN ISLAND CHAMPION

M'MENAMY BEATS ARMSTRONG AT FOX HILLS LINKS.

Successful Windup of Annual Staten Island Tournament-Baltusrol Cup Won by Sullivan-Record Score by Miss Julia R. Mix Made at the Englewood Course.

Staten Island's tenth annual golf championship ended yesterday at the Fox Hills Golf Club, when J. W. McMenamy beat H. E. Armstrong for the title by 2 up and 1 to play in thirty-six holes. Besides this there were final matches for five other cups and runnerup prizes, also an eighteen hole handicap with eighty-five starters. McMenamy gained poswon outright a souvenir medal, with the cup for the first sixteen. There was also a cup for Armstrong, who made a fine fight against a more seasoned golfer, as he had not been on a regular course before this tournament since Pinehurst.

The Richmond County Country Club's players did not fare as well as usual. There has been a crowd on the course each day and the players were loud in their praises of Dr. A. H. Thomas, chairman of the green committee, for the excellent state of the course.

"Any one should score as the course is now, said Isaac Mackie, the professional. "I did 38, 33—69 over it on Friday myself." This was many strokes better than any of the amateurs could travel. A. H. Pogson had charge for the tournament committee and there was not a hitch throughout the three days. On June 7 Pogson hit and killed a robin from a brassy shot for the first hole. The clans said some of his energy was due to remorse for that act.

There was a close fight for the title on the first eighteen holes, but as each had a 7 the cards were high. Armstrong got the first hole in 4, but a short approach enabled McMenamy to 2 on the third by holing from the mashie, the seventeenth green. McMenamy had a seventh for Armstrong. They halved the next two leaving McMenamy 1 up at the turn. He made it 2 up at the tenth and gained another at the twelfth, where Armstrong did not get his 3.

This was McMenamy's high water mark. He lost the thirteenth by failing to carry the ravine on his second and the fourteenth through taking three puts. They halved the fifteenth, but McMenamy topped his tee shot on the sixteenth and Armstrong squared the match with a 3. A 4 on the seventeenth made short put on the eighteenth, a half resulting, the former had the lead for the morning.

McMenamy won the first hole of the after-Armstrong squared the issue at the tenth, but thereafter he could not head McMenamy. Armstrong carried the match to the seven nth green, however, where a win in 4 made McMenamy the champion. The card.

In the other finals the leader on the first eighteen holes won out in each instance, but there was no straw to show how the Hunger-ford-Seaman match was to go. as they were all square in the morning. This is the sum-mary of the finals, all-being at thirty-six holes.

McMenamy has a good style and is a stocky, athletic man of about twenty-six years. Last season he won ten cups at Fox Hills, and this season he started in the tournaments at Baltusrol, Wykagyl and Nassau. He and Armstrong are at 6 on the club's handicaps. The following have held the Branch medal: 1899 and 1920, J. A. Janin; 1931, Louis Livingston; 1932, John M. Ward; 1938, Luther L. Kellogg; 1934 and 1938, John M. Ward; 1936, P. W. and 1978, John M. Ward; 1978, P. W. Kendali; 1977, John M. Ward.

The competition is held alternately on the Richmond County and Fox Hills links. There was a large field to finish in the annual all Staten Island handicap.

J. A. Janin, who had won the low score medal with 75 in the qualifying round, had the distinction also of winning the gross score prize medal in the handicap with 78. The net prize seemed for a long while due to Lionel H. Graham, the "pa of the M. G. A. par score," with 85, 15—70, but in the last hour J. H. Ayer tied him with identically the same score, gross, handicap and net. Of the tournament winners McMenamy, Johnson, Hungerford and Graham all live at the club. "The steward feeds good golf food," was one comment. The handicap cards were:
